Construction Safety Consulting & Program Development

Safety management expertise at construction sites has been recognized as an important factor in reducing injuries, illness, and fatalities. The professionals at Ellis Fall Safety Solutions can provide clients with oversight, daily or periodic safety meetings, audits of programs and activities, interface with construction managers or subcontractors, accident investigation assistance, and construction safety training. No matter what construction business you are in or the size of your organization, our safety professionals will deliver the customized, flexible, state-of-the-art safety services you need to protect your employees, reduce losses and insurance costs, ensure compliance with federal and state worker-safety rules, and protect your hard-earned reputation.

EFSS professionals have many years of technical and management safety experience to draw from for the development of comprehensive safety programs for construction company clients. We have extensive knowledge of changing regulatory and business management environments that not only helps us in the development of programs, but also in their implementation. We can assist you in projects ranging from review and update of a single procedure to development of a full safety program from scratch. Our programs are designed to be comprehensive yet user-friendly, focusing on real world methods for addressing work place hazards.

We can review your operations and develop customized written programs and plans for fall protection, hazard communication, personal protective equipment, respiratory protection, emergency action, confined space entry, lock-out/tag-out, vehicle safety, hearing conservation or any other applicable standards or occupational safety & health issues. The programs we develop do not just satisfy record-keeping or paperwork requirements but are useful documents that serve as tools to aid management and employees in improving safety in the work place. We can assist with the implementation of safety & health programs and provide forms and documents for compliant record keeping.

Some other services EFSS is available to provide include:

- Program and Site Safety Audits
- Prepare and Conduct Safety Meetings
- Safety Committee development and training
- 10 and 30-hour OSHA Outreach Safety Training
- Job Safety Analysis or Personal Protective Equipment Hazard Evaluations
- Accident Investigations
